QuantumPathic
Center of Consciousness

Medical intuitive Sherry Anshara is founder of QuantumPathic Center of Consciousness, developer of the QuantumPathic Energy Method, and developer / educator of the Intuitive Powers / Practical Applications courses. In her private practice located in Scottsdale, Arizona, individuals, business owners, couples and families locally, nationally and internationally learn how to connect to their cellular memory by using their intuition to consciously take charge of their lives and no longer be influenced by limited Belief Systems and fears. They become the observers and the conscious creators of their lives. Anshara authored “The Age of Inheritance: The Activation of the Thirteen Chakras” and “And the Point Is...? Beyond Duality.” She’s a contributor to many local and national publications, media, and hosted the weekly “Conscious Healing” online radio show for 5 years until 2010. Anshara is also a founder and president of the Blended Healthcare Consortium, a group of doctors, healthcare practitioners and business professionals who are dedicated to the mission of providing personalized solutions for individual wellness at every age and stage of their lives.

Sherry’s main interest is in teaching individuals to use QPEM for themselves and in helping people become independent of external authorities. She is also an author, professional speaker, and contributing writer to national publications on the subject of wellness.

“I live my dream as a reality. My bliss is to show you how to live your dream as your reality. There is no greater joy for me than to witness my students and clients connect to themselves, to their bodies, perhaps for the first time. To see them released from the grip of their past and become truly present and free.”
